THE NEWTONIAN

1930

Annual of Newton High School
Newton, Massachusetts

VOLUME TWENTY-ONE

EDITED BY THE CLASS OF NINETEEN THIRTY

JAMES

OLSEN

1107N
C.3
1930

Foreword

THE "bigger and better" year book lies before you. If this, the twenty-first volume of the Newtonian, in years to come brings a clearer picture of the years spent at Newton, the efforts of the entire staff have been well rewarded.

The introduction, after a two-year lapse of the Feature Section, has done a great deal toward the higher standards that were promised at the subscription assembly in February. The Organization Section now consists of pictures and histories of every group in the school. This has never before been accomplished and the editors have felt that it is a real step in the right direction.

To every staff member and to those of the faculty, who have so willingly given their time and effort to make the year book "bigger and better," the editor expresses his deepest appreciation.

IRVING O. PALMER

IRVING O. PALMER, Principal of Newton High School, graduated from Coburn Classical Institute in 1883 and Colby College in 1887. During the '90's he was a student at Harvard Summer School in the fields of Physical Science and Education to the extent of seven or eight courses.

Before coming to Newton, Mr. Palmer was Principal of Derby Academy, 1887-1888; Principal of Wareham, Massachusetts, High School, 1888-1891; Head of Science Department at Tabor Academy, 1891-1893; Head of Science Department at Salem High School, 1893-1897. In 1897 he came to Newton, and from 1897-1910 was Head of the Science Department. From 1910-1924 he was Principal of the Newton Technical High School, and, since then, has been Principal of Newton High School.

Mr. Palmer was joint author of a small volume entitled "One Thousand Problems in Physics." He has been president of the Science Department of the National Education Association. He is a member of the Headmasters Association and a Rotarian. He has also held membership and, in some cases, office in other educational organizations, some local, some state, and some national in scope.

Mr. Palmer states that he has been "guilty in past years of wasting the substance of an impecunious schoolmaster in European travel, in journeying through the majority of the states of the Union and all the Canadian provinces but one." He says, also, that he "enjoys work, family, food, and friends."

PAUL E. ELICKER

BEFORE coming to Newton High School, Paul E. Elicker, Assistant Principal, was a member of the faculties of several other schools. At Malverne High School, Lynbrook, Long Island, New York, he was director of dramatics and athletic teams. Later he was director of dramatics and baseball coach at Franklin High School, Hackensack, New Jersey. From there he went to Franklin School in New York City; while there he was on leave of absence, serving as an officer in the Infantry during the World War. Still later Mr. Elicker was at Collegiate School in New York. He came to Newton in 1923 and since then has been a mathematics teacher, on the Administrative Staff, and, since 1927, Assistant Principal.

Since 1916 Mr. Elicker has spent his summers in camps, the Engineer Camps of Columbia University, Connecticut Military Camp, Officers' Training Camp, Camp Lee, Virginia, Boys' Camps, Thousand Islands, New York and Montrose, Pennsylvania. The last eleven summers he has spent at Camp Susquehannock as Assistant Head Counsellor. This summer Mr. Elicker will be "camping part time on the Atlantic Ocean and in countries in Europe."

During his spare time, Mr. Elicker has taken educational courses at Columbia University, Boston University, and Harvard "with a few degrees thrown in here and there," as he modestly puts it.

Mr. Elicker says he likes the outdoors and outdoor work, especially tennis, golf, and baseball.

SENIORS

B. Wilder

Good Luck, Seniors!

YOU'VE struggled up one rocky ledge,
Before you lies a plain;
But yonder looms a jagged edge,
And you must climb again.

But don't lose heart, just wear a grin;
Your climb was not in vain.
You've gained the chance, new spurs to win,
New victories to attain.

We're rooting for you, here, you know,
We hope you'll make the grade;
And now it's up to you to show,
The stuff of which you're made.

Don't make us feel that we were wrong,
Keep climbing toward the peak,
And soon we'll follow you along,
In search of what you seek.

And now good-bye, we're proud of you.
And proud of what you've done,
We wish you luck in all you do,
God bless you, every one!

History of the Senior Class

By W. PHILIP GIDDINGS

ONCE, eons of time ago, there were, scattered throughout the eighth grades of Newton's schools, many little tots. It was so long ago that even the seniors scarcely remember it. Then one September day they all got together in a big, new hall and were told that they were the first group to assemble as a class in the auditorium of the new building of the High School. These boys and girls had a tremendous amount of wisdom but they didn't reveal it all at once for fear of awakening the jealousy of those monsters called "upper classmen." First they elected their officers. Philip Giddings became president; George Hutchinson, vice-president; Doris Benson, secretary; and Dorothy Bowen, treasurer. The class organized a committee to carry on the anti-bumming rides campaign. As freshmen they took part in the athletics and "club life" of the school, and so became acquainted with their new environment. Then, in June, came some excitement called "finals," and some more excitement called vacation. So they left school for a while and rested and played and planned great things for the future.

The next fall, when they returned, the boys wore long trousers; and some of the girls already "put their hair up." They left for school five minutes later, because they were sophomores and had first floor home rooms. This year they elected different officers. James Benson was chosen president; Fred Schipper, vice-president; Doris Benson, secretary; and Rena Spain, treasurer. Miss Benson left school and was succeeded by Helen Brooks. Extra-curricula activities brought out the talent of these growing youngsters and as sophomores more members joined clubs. The boys and girls began to appear on the athletic fields and catch the eyes of the coaches. After each marking period, the class scholarship roll was always near the top of the list. One of the big events of the year was the Girls' Gym Meet, in which the sophomores tied with the seniors, thus foreshadowing the win they scored as juniors. Then came more "finals" and vacation, only all the excitement this time attached itself to vacation.

When they returned as upper-classmen, sophistication set in. The boys of 1930 began to appear about school after 2.15 in old Fords. Fellows no longer turned pink and cast furtive glances about before addressing ladies on the school grounds. Elections again! Benson was re-elected president, and Miss Spain became vice-president. Eleanor Bingham was elected secretary, and Helen Morgan, treasurer. The class began definitely to participate in the major activities. The Drama and English Clubs contained on their rosters the names of many juniors, while a number were made members of the Newtonite staff.

After Christmas things happened in earnest. Fred Burton won first place in the prize-speaking contest. In April, twenty-five members of the class were elected to membership in the National Honor Society. Giddings and Fred Wing were made Editor and Business Manager, respectively, of the Newtonite. On the athletic fields, girls and boys alike starred. Three juniors played on the girls' hockey team. Eight boys received varsity football letters and Fred Schipper secured a regular position on the hockey team. Four juniors were varsity trackmen, and two played on the first tennis team.

Then came the last vacation of their Newton years, and they returned from it with all the self-confidence of the senior. In the beginning of the year, Giddings was elected president, Dorothy Bliss and Donald Bosworth, vice-presidents; Maude Chase, secretary; and Richard Dort, treasurer. Later in the year Bosworth and Dort were forced by ineligibility to give up their offices to Virginia Costello and Rena Spain. James Benson was elected by the school to be president of the Associates with Eleanor Bingham and William Bell as girls' and boys' vice-presidents. Nelson Bell became president of the National Honor Society. Extra-curricula activities were again in order.

As is customary, the senior class opened the social season with a gym dance, the "Harvest Hop," arranged under Helen Morgan's committee's supervision. Next came the senior play. The play selected was "The Goose Hangs High," coached by Mrs. Bennis, while the business end was in charge of Dr. Land. The play committee was under the chairmanship of Constance Dort. Critics rated the production as one of the best ever produced by a senior class. Charles Barry and Margaret Lennox carried finely throughout, well supported by Dick Wales's humor and red socks, Louise Hawkes, Willetta Mosser, Bob Warfield, and Maude Chase.

THE NEWTONIAN

The senior talent assembly, produced by Mary Wakefield's committee, proved to be a most entertaining hour of informal fun. Messrs. Warfield, Burton & Co., sent everyone from the hall with a happy heart by virtue of their fetching finale.

The Newtonite passed through another successful year; and, on turning the tables on the newsies and snooping a bit ourselves, we found that Mr. Lester Williams and Helen Brooks and Jack Morris deserve a world of thanks for doing the lion's share of the work. Then it was said that one Donald Briggs enjoyed immensely running the editorial page and now and then writing some funny comment in the Editor's Column.

Toward the middle of the year, the class began to think of its graduation, and that it might want to celebrate. Accordingly Jim Benson became chairman of the dance committee, and Bob Warfield was placed in charge of the banquet arrangements.

Athletically, many of our members won honors. Charlie Hall captained the track team and proved to be one of the outstanding performers on an outstanding team. Through the years in school, Charlie managed to win two tennis tournaments. Two cross-country letters were awarded to Charles Hall, and to William Young of the class of 1930. Fred Schipper acted as captain of the football team and also led the pucksters. Other seniors winning varsity football letters were: Arthur Boughan, Donald Bosworth, Henry Furden, Ernest Hamilton, William Kenslea, Gordon Linberg, Edgar Moore, Leslie Doten, and Alan Dull, manager. Hockey lettermen were Schipper, Edgar Moore, and Gordon Linberg.

Newton's second publication, the year book, was organized in early March with Charles Barry as Editor-in-Chief and Jack Richmond as Business Manager.

Basketball continued to grow in popularity and a number of seniors secured positions on the Varsity Squad. Those who received letters were: Donald Bosworth, Harold Scholl, Briscoe Chipman, and Nelson Bell, manager.

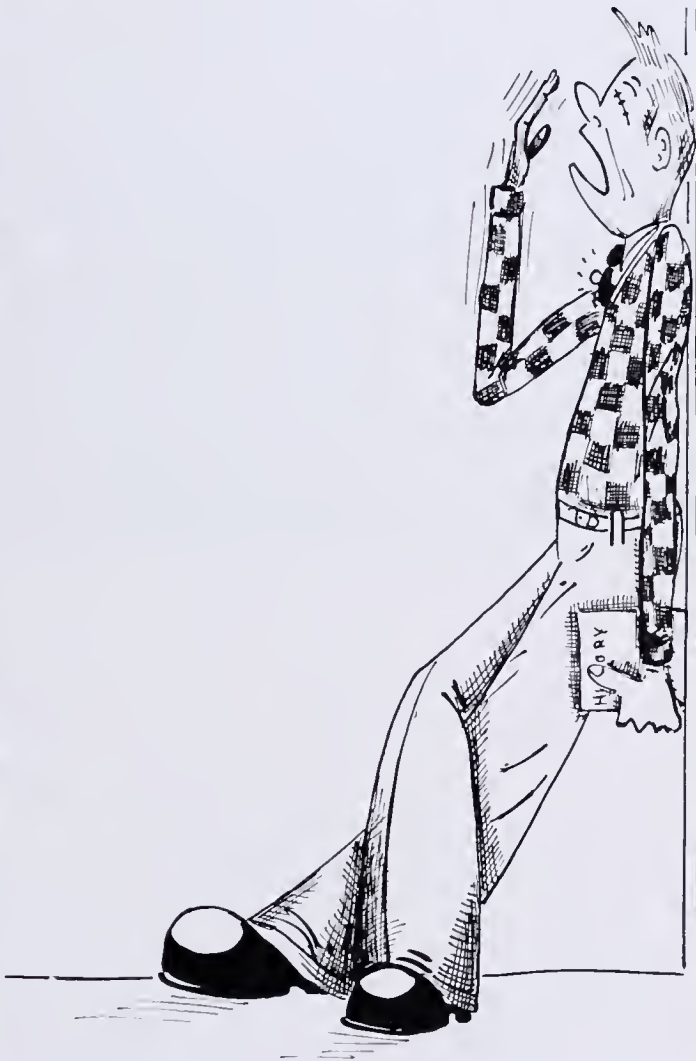

Among the girls, Rena Spain was the only girl to receive a large chevron in field-hockey. Large "N's" were received by Dorothy Bliss, Betty Muther, Geraldine Gallagher, Betty Farnum, Eleanor Bingham, and Natalie Welch.

The early spring outlook indicated that many seniors would be representing our class in the spring sports, baseball, golf, and tennis.

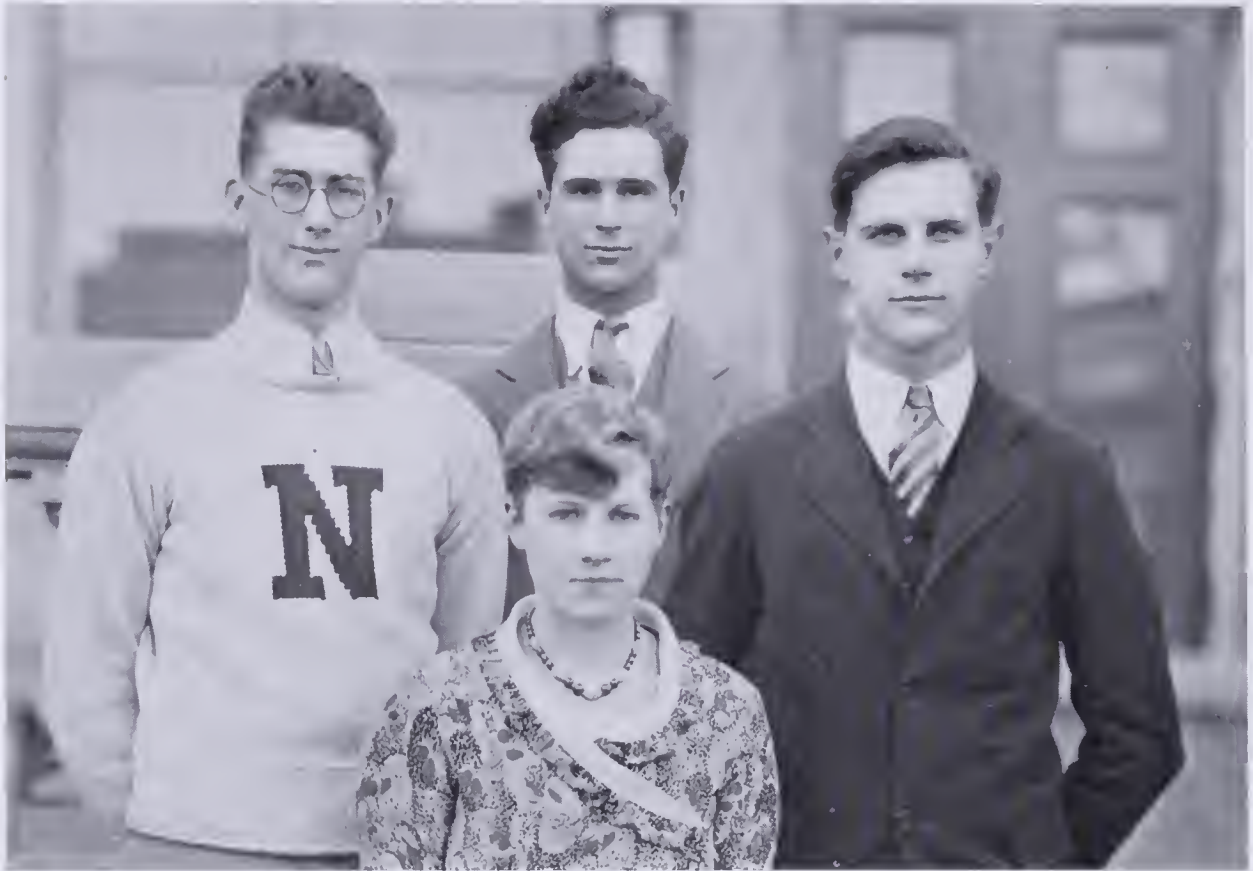

And here our story ends. Another class has passed through this school, and, as its members leave and scatter, they all take with them the memories of the time spent in Newton High School.

History of the Junior Class

By VIRGINIA WEED

ANOTHER golden leaf has been turned in the brief history of our school life. Attitudes, outlooks, views, have changed considerably since the portals of childhood closed behind us and we were admitted into the hall of high school life.

Turning back the thumb-worn pages of our three-year-old history let us review the past events that still can delight us.

In the first chapter we attended the traditional get-together party. We participated in our first real election and selected for our class officers: Norman Adams, president; Charles Bassett, vice-president; William Dunn, secretary; and William Perry, treasurer. We read how famous our freshman class becomes when Cynthia Jump, competing against seven sophomores, snatched the glories of elocution from them by winning the Prize-Speaking Contest open only to lower classmen.

Another important event engraved on the records was the freshman debate during the spring. It was our first invitation into the world of oratory and we will never forget the enthusiasm that its occurrence inspired.

At the opening of the second chapter we read that our sophomore officers were: George Hildreth, president; George Defren, vice-president; Florence Bell, secretary; and Virginia Josselyn, the treasurer.

The sophomore girls won the loving cup for the greatest representation in sports, and the names of many members of varsity teams became outstanding even then as participants of junior teams.

We must not skip the paragraph that tells of the success which the Sophomore Dance, our social event, won for itself; or that Cynthia Jump again won the Price-Speaking Contest. In both years, members of our class have received prizes in the Shakespearian Contest which is sponsored for the freshman and sophomore classes.

Nor did we neglect the clubs either. In Alpha Beta, Betty Tucker was president, and Cynthia Jump, secretary. The Freshman-Sophomore Drama Club had for its president Richard Wit, and as secretary Betty Tucker. Richard Lawrence of our sophomore class was president of the new Aviation Club.

But the chapters of the past are finished; now we review briefly the events of our flashing junior year. We selected as our officers: George Hildreth, president; Perry Elrod, vice-president; Florence Bell, secretary; and Albert Guzzi, treasurer. We do not lack representation in the Associates, either, for Robert Bell and Cynthia Jump were elected clerk and treasurer respectively.

Newton High offers much to its large group of students in the way of activities outside of school hours. The Junior Class well appreciates this, for in our extra activities we read that our class is well represented. Clubs play an all important part in the life of the student who is vitally interested in his own progress and that of the school. The English Club which is one of major importance has many members of the junior class. This year the Drama Club honored some twenty young actors and actresses with membership. It has as its secretary Betty Tucker. In the Social Studies Club Helen Dearing is secretary, while in the Home Economics Club Natalie Smith is president.

Now we come to that all interesting bulletin The Newtonite. One reason for its success is that Lois Stafford is editor of the copy-staff and because of the reporting talents which other juniors have.

This year Catherine Martin is the only junior representative on the Newtonian Staff.

In the girls' world of athletics the junior class has starred. Those who have won honors in hockey are: Hilda Kirby, Jean Wilson, Catherine Martin, Barbara Goodrich, and Adelaide Fogg. Hilda Kirby, Dorothy Buchanan, Lillian Cavanaugh, Adelaide Fogg, Dorothy Nichols, Ruth Chase, Barbara Goodrich, Mary Kibbe, Elizabeth Hayden, Catherine Martin, and Marjorie Munsil made the varsity basketball team and Adelaide Fogg, Grace Thompson, Ruth Chase, and Helen Chase, are our tennis fans.

THE NEWTONIAN

Junior boys have attained positions on all the major teams. Varsity stars of the junior class in football were: Reggie Bankart, Perry Elrod, John McCarthy, John Shorten, Harold Strombom, and Phil Layton.

Winter sports quickly followed, and upon the organization of the track team we find that Russell Taylor, Robert McMullin, manager, Robert Bell, Richard Jarrell, George Bartlett, Milton Green, Thomas Mariner, Irving Fine, Harold Quinlan, and Alfred Guzzi are making us famous with new records. Hockey letters this season were awarded to Walter Billings and George Hildreth. Midseason is the time for basketball, and with John McCarthy as captain the season has been creditable to the school. Perry Elrod, Raymond Blair, Leo McCarthy, Richard Bailey, Robert Patterson have become basketball stars. Finishing the logical order we find Francis Chase as captain of the tennis team and Oliver Prescott, manager.

Baseball is still an unwritten page. But peruse this history of ours a year from now and you will find the junior class as outstanding as in other sports.

Undoubtedly the most successful dance put on in the school was our Feminine Follies. A record breaking crowd collected in the gym with the Techtonians supplying the music. We have Mary Kibbe, chairman of the dance, and the splendid committees which aided her, to thank for its success.

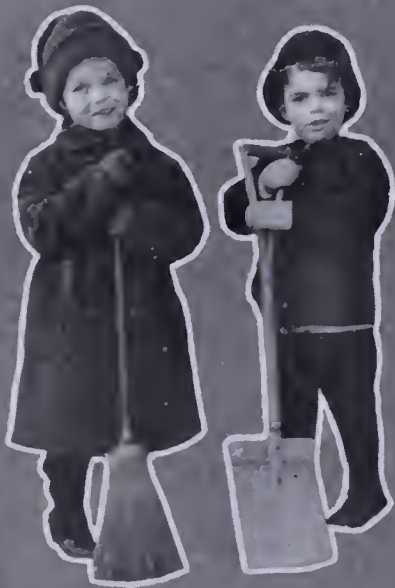

Still we have left unrecorded a little of the story of our junior year. There is one more part to finish — our long looked forward to senior year. And, as we have made this past year successful, let us print the finis of our high school life in the golden letters of a success worthy of each individual of our outstanding class.

History of the Sophomore Class

By ROBERT ASHLEY

THE time is five o'clock, Friday afternoon. Newton High School is completely deserted. Building 1: "You know, brother, a complete transformation has come over the Class of 1932 in a year. A year ago they were freshmen, making all the mistakes and doing all the ridiculous things that freshmen usually do. But now they have grown into sophomorehood and in my opinion are the finest class in the school."

Building 3: "Don't forget my seniors. They're the finest ——."

Building 1: "All right, brother, we won't argue. Don't forget that I am older and more experienced than you. However, I have an idea. We will make an investigation and I will prove to you that my statement is true."

Building 3: "O. K. I've heard some of my seniors say that all Gaul is divided into three parts. So let's divide our investigation into three parts. First I'll call Room 314."

"Hello, 314? Building 1 and I are carrying on an investigation concerning the Class of 1932. What can you say for them?"

Room 314: "Plenty. First of all they have made an enviable record in scholarship. Their average per cent of pupils on the scholarship roll is 8.3. I predict a great future for this class, for as they gain in experience and in intimacy with the teachers they will make a record as good as that of the present senior class. Their attendance record is quite as enviable. Sophomore rooms are to be found at the head of every attendance list."

Building 3: "Could you tell us the class officers?"

Room 314: "On election day in October the sophomores elected the following as their leaders: Stuart DeBard, president; Phyllis Baker, vice-president; Elizabeth Ellis, secretary; and Thurman Philoon, treasurer."

Building 3: "Thank you. That will be all. Tell Assembly Hall that we wish to speak with him."

Building 1: "Well, brother, I hope that Room 314 has done something toward convincing you that I was right. I feel that he has strengthened my conviction."

Building 3: "'People easily believe what they wish to believe'."

Building 1: "I wish you would keep those scholarly quotations to yourself. You can't appear learned no matter what you do. Here comes Assembly Hall. See what he has to say."

Building 3: "Hello, Assembly Hall. Building 1 is trying to prove that the sophomore class has claims for distinction in Newton High School. Can you help him?"

Assembly Hall: "I certainly can. The freshmen and sophomores have held some very fine assemblies within my walls and I can vouch for the fact that the sophomores have upheld their end of the work. I have two assemblies in mind, the Freshman-Sophomore Play and the Prize-Speaking Contest. The 'Neophytes' presented a well-acted play entitled, 'The Enchanted Christmas Tree.' Edith Hanson and Percy Lewis played the leads admirably. The Prize-Speaking Contest revealed much sophomore talent. The boys' and girls' prizes were won by Harold Banks and Phoebe Coombs respectively."

Building 3: "Here's the third witness, Room 3B. Hello, 3B. I am investigating the claims of the Class of 1932 for distinction. What can you do to help me?"

Room 3B: "Of course you understand that no athletic team is composed entirely of the members of one class. However, I can say that the sophomores have played their part in school athletics. The sophomores have a large representation on the Junior Varsity Teams. These teams have been more successful in upholding the honor of Newton High School on the athletic field than the other teams. Junior Varsity A football under Wally Goodnow's leadership finished with a commendable record. The junior varsity hockey and basketball teams also had successful seasons. The sophomore girls basketball team won more victories than any of the other class teams."

Building 1: "After these testimonies, brother, you must admit that the Class of 1932 has a name to live up to in future years."

Building 3: "Yes, brother, you are right. And let us hope that this class does live up to its name and that of Newton High School. If it does, its future happiness and prosperity are assured."

History of the Freshman Class

By AUDREY COOPER

A BRIGHT, September sun awoke one morning to look down upon many happy, excited, young folks. It was strange to see so many boys and girls (so early in the morning, too!) and Mr. Sun decided that he would have to look into the matter.

First of all, why was this excited crowd all traveling toward one center? Second, what was this center of attraction? And third, why were they all so excited? Mr. Sun watched very carefully and during that day he gathered much interesting information from his observations, from the wind, and from the clouds.

These hurrying earth-creatures all had for their destination that famous institution of learning — the Newton High School. It was the first day of school and the most excited of these young folks were freshmen.

These freshmen all gathered in the assembly hall of the Administration Building where they received warm greetings and hearty hopes for success, with a lot of good advice. They met Mr. Palmer, their principal; Mr. Elicker, the assistant principal; and Miss Riley, their class adviser.

So during that first day the freshmen stumbled on with the aid of sophisticated seniors and jolly juniors and silly sophomores. They learned about the buildings, their rooms, the teachers, and the subjects.

After a few weeks, to Mr. Sun's surprise, some of the proudness of being a freshman began to wear off. I have never really discovered, Mr. Sun, whether this was the result of older students laughing and joking at them or the curt remarks that were made to them. I am sure, however, that the upper classmen had something to do with it. One of the most popular remarks heard about the corridors was, "Oh! a freshman, you might know!"

Mr. Sun continued to watch the Newton freshmen. As the weeks rolled by, he saw many changes. He watched the class being swept into a sea of politics. The class of 1933 elected Richard McEldowney, Robert Dunn, Betty Buttrick, and Caroline Ray for the respective offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. They chose the following executive committee: Clara Cummings, Carl Goodwin, Ellen Weston, Herbert Bray, Shirley Dutton, and Robert Ohler.

The wind whistled in the ear of Mr. Sun and said, "I am sure this class is establishing a reputation in athletics. They have done well in basketball, tennis, track, and hockey. I have cooled their sweating brows on the field and in the gymnasium. The girls' hard efforts resulted in a good showing in the Girls' Gym Meet. They worked hard against the upper classmen."

One cold, winter morning, Mr. Sun peered into the assembly hall and saw several freshmen taking part in a Christmas play that was given to members of the freshman and sophomore classes. On another day he saw the entire class assemble to enjoy a fine program on "Anti-Bumming Rides," arranged by a freshman civics class.

Mr. Sun continues his daily journey across the sky. He has learned a great deal about the freshman class. He feels sure that during this first year they have made the grade, and he hopes to see them traveling along a new road next fall that will carry them into their sophomore year.

THE Newton High School Associates act through the Legislature, as a body to make laws governing the school activities, such as giving financial aid to clubs, supervising civic activities, music, dramatics, athletics, and the school publications. As each home room has delegates in the Legislature, every member of the student body is represented. The meetings are held on the Wednesday following the marking period, thus causing no conflict with other activities.

The Legislature has been quite active this year. It has taken steps to improve conditions in the lunchroom and has bought arm bands for the lunchroom officials.

The Associates have taken over the management of the lost and found department. The charter of the Camera Club and the revised charter of the Commercial Club have been accepted by the Legislature. In March, the problem of student supervision in the study halls arose. A committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Palmer or Mr. Elicker regarding the matter.

Still other projects towards which the Associates directed their attentions were, the raising of money for Christmas dinners for needy families, and the preservation of the grounds about the buildings.

The National Honor Society

President, NELSON BELL

Vice-President, ELEANOR BINGHAM

Secretary, MARGARET LENNOX

Treasurer, HARRY COLONY

THE Newton chapter of the National Honor Society, with the able guidance of Miss Edith M. Rideout, faculty adviser, has completed its fourth year. Every year, from the upper 25% of the senior class and the upper 15% of the junior class, the faculty selects as members those pupils who in their eyes best demonstrate the qualities of character, leadership, scholarship, and service. The society is distinctly not a social organization, its purpose is to confer a reward upon the most deserving members of the school. It is the Phi Beta Kappa of High School.

At its first meeting in the fall, the following officers were elected: Nelson Bell, president; Eleanor Bingham, vice-president; Margaret Lennox, secretary; Harry Colony, treasurer. Miss Rideout explained the purpose and aims of the club.

At an assembly of the sophomore and junior classes on April 23, the newly chosen members were inducted into the society with the usual ceremonies.

The Newtonite

UNDER the leadership of W. Philip Giddings, as editor-in-chief, and Mr. Lester E. Williams, as faculty adviser, the eighth volume of the Newtonite has been successfully brought to a close. It has fulfilled its two objects: that of furnishing an accurate news service to every department of the school, and to provide an outlet for all creative writing and manifestations of student opinion. Its standard, as one of the most carefully made of the country's school newspapers has also been retained.

The Newtonite has covered every important event which occurred during the school year. Clubs, faculty, athletics, dramatics, and all other phases of school life were handled by a competent staff. The literary and editorial pages were both made interesting by a great variety of content.

Newtonite charms, which are awarded to those who have done exceptional service for the Newtonite, were presented to the following pupils at an assembly in May:

W. Philip Giddings
Samuel Wilkinson
Helen R. Brooks
Donald Briggs
John Morris
Ellen J. Cooley

The Orange Book

Faculty Adviser, CAROLINE M. DOONAN

Editor-in-Chief, ARCHIE C. McKILLOP

THE Orange Book is published annually by the Junior Class under the supervision of the Associates with Miss Doonan as faculty adviser. Although this school manual was originally intended as a guide for freshmen, it may be found useful to the most sophisticated senior.

Each year a new feature is added; in the 1929-'30 issue this took the form of an article from the guidance department on good school citizenship. A copy of the constitution of the High School Associates and all rules concerning parking, attendance, lunchroom, eligibility, and the like are other important items.

Those interested in clubs will find a complete list of organizations together with a brief account of the aims and activities of each. There is also a school calendar giving the dates for such events as class dances, motion pictures, parties, and plays.

Of interest to the athletic minded will be the account of each sport, the lists of letter-winners, and the Newton High Field and Track Records.

Next year's editor is Bronius Balkus, and a publication worthy of past records may well be expected.

“The Goose Hangs High”

THE ever-looked-forward-to Senior Play was presented on December 11th and 12th by a talented group of young actors coached by Mrs. Blanche Bemis.

Margaret Lennox and Charles Barry played the appealing roles of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ingals, as though they had been married for years. Their admirable acting brought tears to the eyes of many; tears which, however, quickly gave way to the delightful comedy of the college twins enacted by Louise Hawkes and Richard Wales. Willetta Mosser, as the easily and frequently shocked grandmother, could not have been better had she stepped from the pages of the book itself. The self-sacrificing young lovers, portrayed by Robert Warfield and Maude Chase, played their parts sincerely and zealously. Elizabeth Stidger, as the wealthy woman who hated the “bother” of Christmas, and Donald Bischoff, as her much sheltered son, were wholly realistic.

Harry Colony readily became a politician seeking social prestige; Webb Wright, a bullying councilman; Frederick Burton, an old family friend; and Lillian Norton, a genuine maid.

Doctor Land and his committees are to be heartily congratulated for their able management of the rather boresome, but necessary, business end of the proposition.

Altogether, the play was a huge success, enthusiastically acted and immensely enjoyed.

President, DOROTHY ELLIS

Vice-President, ELEANOR BINGHAM

WITH Mr. Samuel Thurber as faculty adviser and a large membership, the English Club started early in the fall on a very successful year. At the first meeting the following officers were chosen: president, Dorothy Ellis, '30; vice-president, Eleanor Bingham, '30; secretary, Louise Hawkes, '30; treasurer, Harry Colony, '30.

During the year the club was fortunate in securing three very fine speakers. Mr. Hersey, professor of English at Harvard, spoke to us on the "History of the Theatre." Mr. Whiting spoke most interestingly on the "Forcefulness of Writing." At a later meeting a very well known lecturer, Mr. Stoddard, talked on "Personalities I Have Known."

Several other interesting programs have been carried out, including playlets by members, a book-title contest, and a most enjoyable talk by our own Miss Richardson, on her trip to the Tennessee mountains.

The club voted to give ten books to the library, which were selected by Miss Bigelow working with an appointed Committee.

The annual Prize-Speaking Contest under the auspices of the English Club was held on the evening of March twenty-first in the auditorium. Cynthia Jump received the girl's cup for the prize-speaking, while Charles Leach won the boy's cup. The successful authors were William Shea, for the essay, and Ruth Mattox, for the poem. Mr. Richards presented charms to members of the Newtonite staff who had done exceptional work.

The last feature on the program was a short play entitled "Richman, Poorman." Mrs. Benis was the coach. The two leads were taken by Mariada Comer and Charles Oleott. This most successful program was presided over by the president, Dorothy Ellis.

THE Drama Club has just completed its sixth successful year under the competent direction of the faculty adviser, Miss Louise Wetherbee. The club officers elected at the first meeting were the following: Emmons Brown, president; Isabel White, vice-president; Betty Tucker, secretary; Harry Colony, treasurer.

The most outstanding accomplishment this year was the club's annual production, Clyde Fitch's historical drama, "Nathan Hale," which was presented on March 7 and 8. Donald Bischoff admirably portrayed the patriotic hero and Martha Lander, the "soldier's sweetheart." Other outstanding characters were interpreted by Isabel White, Marjorie Morse, Cynthia Jump, Donald Briggs, and Edward Smith.

Isabel White, chairman of the November meeting, coached a short, yet thought provoking, one-act play of Milne, entitled, "Boy Come Home." In December, Miss Wetherbee spoke on "The Little Theater Movement," and "Drama in the High School."

The Drama Club presented "A Maid of France" for all members of clubs on December 20. This one-act play about two soldiers and the statue of Jeanne d'Arc was exceedingly well done. The meeting for January was under Allen Hymer's direction, and he ably coached and presented "The Boor," a one-act farce. At the same meeting, Arthur Williams displayed his talents by putting on an original skit, assisted by William Loud. The club was extremely fortunate in securing Mr. Phidelah Rice to speak in February. Richard Wales and Hannah Bond were in charge of the April and May meetings respectively.

Treasurer, MARTHA LANDER

THE Camera Club claims the distinction of being the only new club organized in the High School this year.

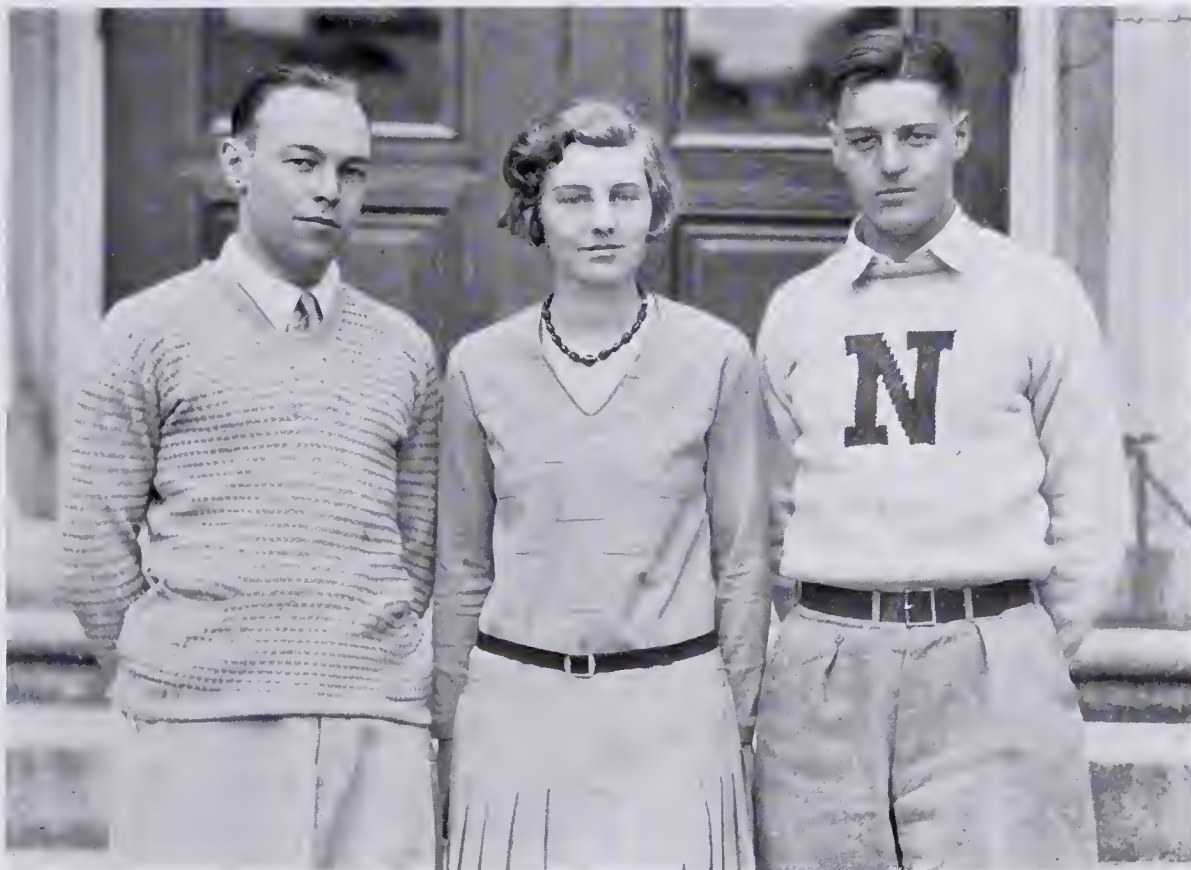

Its purpose is to help those students who are interested in Camera work, by increasing their knowledge and skill in this particular field.

The club was organized with a charter membership of twelve. Shortly after its organization a campaign was begun which increased the membership to twenty-five. This makes a rather creditable showing for a club now three months old.

The meetings of the Camera Club are held on the second Thursday of each month in room 329, with Mr. Sterling L. Williams as faculty adviser. At one of the earlier meetings the following officers were elected: Edmund Hawes, '32, president; Dorothy Hunter, '30, vice-president; Elizabeth Halliday, '30, secretary; and Martha Lander, '30, treasurer.

The monthly snap shot contests of the club, have created considerable interest and enthusiasm. During January the contest was on "Seasonal Pictures," snow scenes and the like, and was won by Dorothy Hunter, '30. The February contest was on "Historical Pictures" and was won by Harrison Carlson, '30.

The present interest of the club is centered on the development of a scenario. Perhaps movie stars with a national reputation may come from this new undertaking of the Newton High School's Camera Club. Who knows?

The Social Studies Club

President, MARSHALL HALL

Vice-President, FREDERICK BURTON

Secretary, HELEN DEARING

Treasurer, GERTRUDE MEADE

THE aim of the Social Studies Club is to stimulate interest in Social Studies, and to promote good citizenship in the school. The members of the club are selected from the five highest grade students of the junior and senior social studies classes. This year's officers were: president, Marshall Hall; vice-president, Frederick Burton; secretary, Helen Dearing; treasurer, Gertrude Meade. Mr. Daniel F. Koughan is the faculty adviser.

In all programs this year, the speakers have been either teachers or pupils who are members of the club. Charles Frary and Warren Dillaway gave an account of the Boy Scout Jamboree of 1929 held in London. Miss South spoke on "A Day with the Pueblos," and Mr. Holmes on "The United States of Tomorrow." This year has been most successful, as well as beneficial, and entertaining to the members.

Le Cercle Francais

President, MARGARET LENNOX

Boys' Vice-President, GERARD CHARTRAND

Girls' Vice-President, LOUISE KIMBALL

Secretary, VIRGINIA FALES

Treasurer, ELINOR BROWN

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS has had a most successful year. The meetings have done much for the members by stimulating an interest in the French language. Miss Helen White and Miss Roberta Miller were the advisers. There were about thirty members enrolled and the officers were: president, Margaret Lennox, '30; boys' vice-president, Gerard Chartrand, '31; girls' vice-president, C. Louise Kimball, '30; secretary, Virginia Fales, '30; treasurer, Elinor F. Brown, '30.

At most of the meetings the club has played French games, which have proved amusing and entertaining, as well as profitable. The club members learned to sing the National Swiss Hymn in French. One of the most successful entertainments was the January meeting, at which Miss Adele Waldmeyer told of her year at a boarding school in a little village in the French part of Switzerland.

During the year the club bought twelve French song books, so that future members may learn French songs. It also voted to buy a picture to present to Miss Burdon, who has been a splendid adviser in past years.

The Spanish Club

President, SAMUEL D. WILKINSON
Vice-President, ELIZABETH FARNUM

Secretary, ELEANOR HORTON
Treasurer, JAMES BENSON

THE Spanish Club held its first meeting of this year on the seventeenth of October. At this meeting the following officers were elected: president, Samuel D. Wilkinson; vice-president, Elizabeth Farnum; secretary, Eleanor Horton; treasurer, James Benson. An entertainment committee was also chosen with Lorraine Wilkinson as chairman. This committee provided for the club very interesting meetings in the way of plays, spelling contests, and fun. On the seventeenth of January an amusing play was given with Gordon Linberg, Margaret Halfrey, and Roy Baker taking the leading parts.

The club was fortunate in having as its speaker on the twentieth of February a noted Spanish doctor, El Senor Quevedo, who spoke on Guatemala, his native country.

Mr. Argento, at several meetings, entertained the members with jokes and funny stories.

The meetings were conducted solely in Spanish, and everyone feels that the club has done much to increase his knowledge of Spanish.

The Commercial Club

President, ANNETTE ROY

Vice-President, CECILIA ROMAN

Secretary, WILLIAM HOGAN

Treasurer, MELVIN BECKER

THE Commercial Club being a business club, is composed only of juniors and seniors in the business division. The aim of this club is to stimulate special interest in business.

The following officers were chosen at the first meeting: president, Annette Roy; vice-president, Cecilia Roman; secretary, William Hogan; treasurer, Melvin Becker; publicity manager, Daniel Hannigan; clerk, Nancy Visco; executive committee, Bronius Balkus and Dorothy Drew.

At the second meeting, the by-laws of the club, which had been revised, were read, and a very interesting moving picture on "Power" was shown. The club was very fortunate in securing for its next meeting Mrs. Schofield, Assistant Attorney-General of Massachusetts. The subject of her talk was "How to Win." At our March meeting, Miss Barnard of the Brookline High School gave a very instructive talk on how to get the right start and how to budget personal accounts. The last meeting was a farewell party to the seniors.

Home Economics Club

President, NATALIE SMITH

Vice-President, LOUISE TROWBRIDGE

Secretary, ARIS HART

Treasurer, HELEN BRIDGE

THE officers of the Home Economics Club for this year were: president, Natalie Smith, '31; vice-president, Louise Trowbridge, '31; secretary, Aris Hart, '30; treasurer, Helen Bridge, '30; chairman entertainment committee, Janice Stange, '30.

In January, a group of girls visited the kitchens and broadcasting rooms of the Hotel Statler. Another outstanding event was a children's party given at Christmas time. One of the most interesting meetings was a talk on "The Life of the Indian Girl," given by a missionary. The mothers were invited, and tea was served. The last meeting was given in the form of a fashion show, with the girls of the Brookline High School club as guests.

Aviation Club

President, ARNOLD SELIGMAN

Vice-President, JAMES GRIFFITH

Secretary and Treasurer, HERBERT WALLEY

THE first meeting of the Aviation Club was held in November at which time officers pro-tem were chosen. Arnold Seligman was selected for president, and Harry Gray for secretary. Herbert D. Tinker, the club adviser, explained the purpose of the club.

At the December meeting, Mr. Tinker presented an interesting talk on some of his flying experiences, and Arnold Seligman gave an illustrated talk on the theory of flight. Before the club adjourned, plans were made to secure a booth in the Boston Aero Show to show the members' models and so excite a greater interest in the club. In January new officers were elected: president, Arnold Seligman; vice-president, James Griffith; and secretary-treasurer, Herbert Walley. James Griffith gave a talk on gliders.

At the February meeting the club discussed model airplanes and scheduled a contest for the next meeting. Mr. Tinker gave a talk on airplane carriers and told some of his experiences in bombing and gunning with the navy.

In March, Verne Frost brought in plans for a compressed air-driven model which were discussed by the club.

The Aviation Club is one of the most popular of the newer clubs. Since it deals with such a "live" subject much is expected of the club in the future years.

The Stage Committee

Faculty Supervisors, RAYMOND A. GREEN, CHARLES PETERSON

ONE of the most important organizations of Newton High School is the stage committee. In all activities in any way connected with the use of the stage, this committee plays a most vital part.

Out of one hundred candidates for membership on this committee, the seven following were chosen for the year 1929-30; electrician, Ernest Angino; Winthrop Lewis, Nelson Bell, George King, Morton Kimball, Franklin Thompson, Susanne Elwell, and Virginia Costello. These people were under the able direction of Raymond A. Green, with Charles Peterson as assistant.

When moving pictures are shown Mr. Peterson has full charge of the machine, as a licensed operator is required.

In all the plays given by the various organizations, the stage committee is very diligently working behind the scenes to make such performances successful. This group deserves much praise for the capable and efficient way in which it has accomplished this year's tasks.

Alpha Beta 1929-1930

President, BARBARA BURR

Vice-President, DAVID MCKILLOP

Secretary, ANNE KENDALL

Treasurer, JOHN GALLAGHER

THIS year, at the suggestion of Mr. Richards, the faculty adviser, Alpha Beta was again divided into four groups, each of which studies a particular phase of English work. The aim of the club is to provide an interesting and instructive program which will prepare its members for the activities of the Senior English Club, and which will also permit those interested to extend their knowledge beyond the possibilities of class room work. These divisions are: Chivalry, in charge of Mr. Rinker; Public Speaking, under Miss Lee; Creative Writing, under Miss Leathers; Creative Reading, with Miss Wentworth.

At our first meeting in October, the following officers were selected: president, Barabara Burr, '32; vice-president, David McKillop, '33; secretary, Anne Kendall, '32; treasurer, John Gallagher, '33. Each month the business meeting is followed by group discussions, and very frequently with an entertainment or refreshments. In December, the club attended the play, "A Maid of Francee," presented by the Drama Club, while in February, a very novel and interesting party took place in the Library. On January fifteenth, the finals of the Prize-Speaking Contest, annually sponsored by Alpha Beta, were held in the Assembly hall, and books bearing the new club book-plate were presented to Phoebe Coombs and Harold C. Banks. Early in April, the Chivalry group undertook a special project, an exhibit illustrating the progress this division has made with its topic.

The Neophytes

President, THURMAN PHILOON
Vice-President, PHEOBE COOMBS

Secretary, MARION WILLARD
Treasurer, JOHN MALLEY

AS the freshman-sophomore Drama Club had no official title, the members decided to adopt as their name the "Neophytes" which means the "beginners," because they feel they are beginners in dramatics, but are aspirants to higher dramatic work. As usual the membership decreased because of the eligibility ruling, but the try-out committee held other trials and the membership increased to thirty. The officers were as follows: Thurman Philoon, president; Phoebe Coombs, vice-president; Marion Willard, secretary; John Malley, treasurer.

The "Neophytes" made their first appearance on the stage at the Christmas assembly, when they gave a play entitled "The Enchanted Christmas Tree" by Percival Wilde. "Spreading the News" and "A Night At an Inn" were two of the one-act plays given at the regular meetings. "The Admirable Crichton" was read to provide entertainment at some of the meetings and the club presented a play at the Memorial Day Assembly.

The Library Club

President, MARY STEPHEN

Vice-President, MAUDE CHASE

Secretary, ELEANOR BINGHAM

Treasurer, DOROTHY ELLIS

THE Library Club, formed seven years ago for girls interested in library work, has an enrollment of twenty-five girls, fifteen seniors and ten juniors, chosen principally for their high scholarship. The system of performing the various duties necessary in the library has been changed somewhat this year. Instead of devoting study-period time alone to these tasks, some time has been set aside at the beginning of each meeting for everyone to help Miss Gladys Bigelow, the librarian and club supervisor, by doing such things as checking off books, stamping and arranging periodicals, filing slips, pasting and clipping items for the bulletin boards, and placing and arranging books on the shelves, checking over due books and various other things.

The Library Club has met every second Thursday in each month this year. At each meeting, after the accomplishment of various duties, the club has held a business meeting, after which there has been a social meeting with refreshments. The February meeting was in the form of a Valentine Party, with various valentine games, prizes, and refreshments. On April 5 the club went to see the Stratford-on-Avon Players in "Romeo and Juliet."

This year's officers were: Mary Stephen, president; Maude Chase, vice-president; Eleanor Bingham, secretary; Dorothy Ellis, treasurer.

The new members for the years 1930-31 were invited to be present at the last meeting in May.

The Traffic Squad

IN the fall of 1929, members of the Class of 1930 were asked to join the traffic squad. A squad was formed in Building 1 with Charles W. Peterson as faculty adviser and Mason H. Stone and Harry S. Colony as student officers. Daniel F. Koughan was the faculty adviser and William J. Bell was the captain of the squad in Building 2.

Samuel I. Wilkinson, Eimons B. Brown, James M. Benson, Charles C. Barry, Robert L. Kenngott, and John B. Richmond were appointed by the Civics Board as inspectors to see that traffic conditions were favorable at all times in the buildings and to offer suggestions for improvement. These officials were carried over to this year and Mason H. Stone was added as an inspector.

With the excellent advice of Mr. Peterson and Mr. Koughan, the squad was completely reorganized and many changes and improvements were made in the traffic rules. The Civics Board adopted a new insignia, consisting of an orange arm band with black initials. This insignia was made for the officials and members of the squad by the girls of Miss Maude M. Shippee's classes.

This fall new sophomore and junior members were elected to fill in the vacancies left by the seniors. The Building 1 squad was captained by Robert W. Robinson with Bolton Wilder as lieutenant. The captain and lieutenant of Building 2 were William E. Halliday and Albert H. Guzzi respectively. Under their leadership, this year's squad has done very efficient and commendable work.

An efficient, reliant, and self-governed traffic squad is a necessary factor in the life of Newton High School. Since the squad has been formed the number of persons late to classes has been considerably diminished due to the alleviation of crowded traffic conditions in the buildings.

The Lunch Squad

UNDER the careful and efficient direction of Lucius P. Jones, general supervisor of the lunchroom, the lunch squad was completely reorganized during the first part of the year.

Its object is to maintain order and to make the lunchroom a clean and healthy place in which to eat.

The squad is composed of twenty members and seven officers who are: Nelson Bell, Mason Stone, William Baxter, Samuel Wilkinson, George King, Clarence Quinn, and Walter Abhatt.

Through the medium of the legislature, a privilege was extended to the entire student body while in the lunchroom, so that now those who desire to go out-of-doors after eating are allowed a five-minute period before the end of the lunch period.

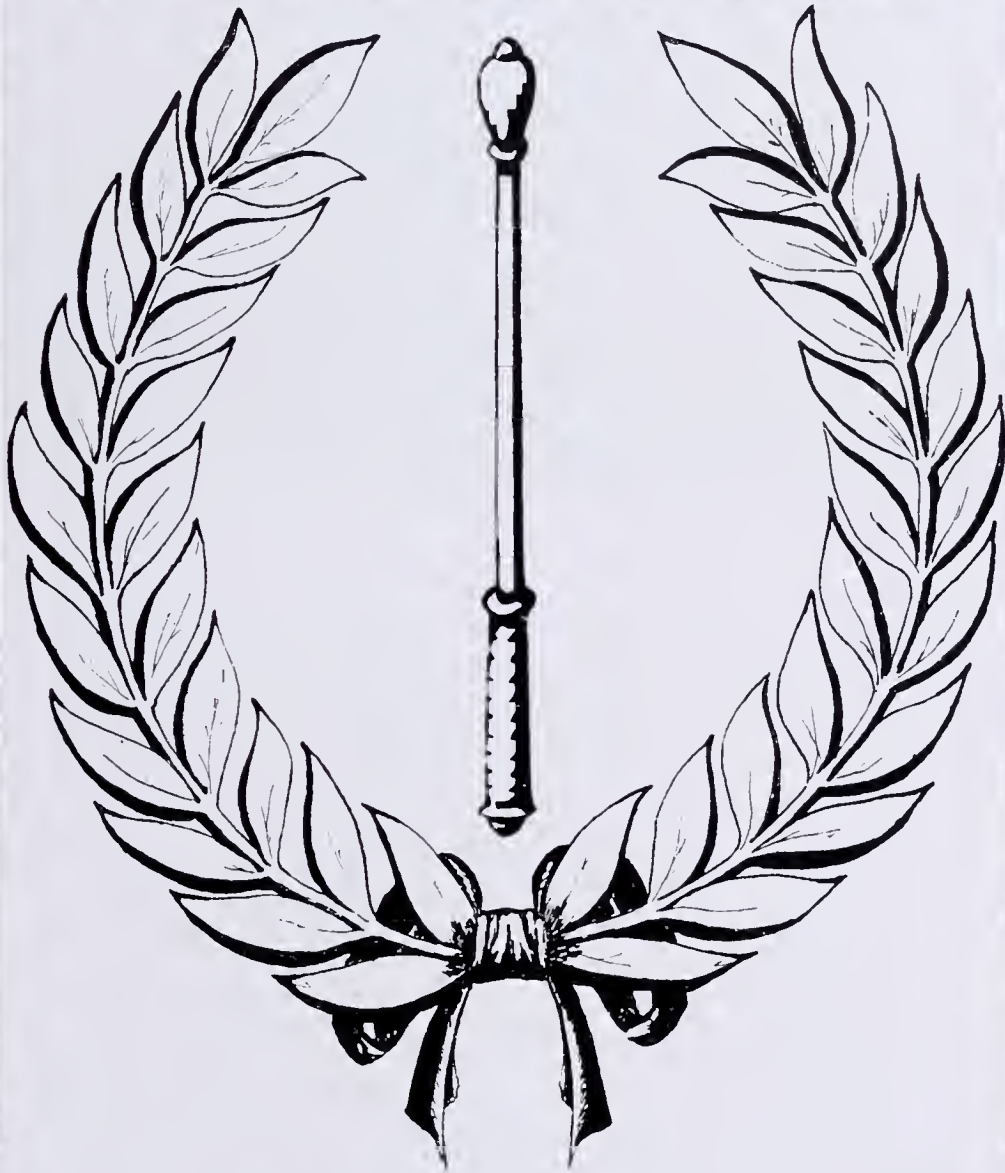

Another feature inaugurated this year is the five-minute privilege extended to the officers, and made possible through the co-operation of the faculty with the officers. In order that the officers may be on duty the entire lunch period, they are allowed to leave their classes five minutes earlier so that they may eat and be ready when the rush begins.

The regulations of the lunchroom this year approach uniformity, thereby making for greater efficiency. The lunch-squad insignia is different from that of last year, being modeled after the traffic squad arm bands, but with a black background and orange letters.

Much of the success of the squad is due to the wonderful co-operation of the student body and to the faithful support of the teachers in charge.

It is hoped that the members of next year's squad will work with as much zeal and sense of responsibility as those of this year with the purpose of making Newton High School's lunchroom a source of pride both to the school and to the city.

THE call for candidates for the 1929 football season brought forth many boys desirous of representing the school. Newton's chances, however, were slightened by a new ruling which deprived the team of several of the best men.

The initial game was lost to the powerful Malden High eleven by a 19-0 score. This was the first victory ever registered by the Blue and Gold at Claflin Field. The spectacular play of Captain Fishman of Malden featured the game. The home team made a brilliant comeback in their first League game, crushing the light Cambridge Latin team 13-6. Cambridge made their only score on the opening kick-off. On Columbus Day, Newton and Everett battled to a scoreless tie. Although the teams were very evenly matched the Garden City line was at all times vastly superior to the Red and Blue. On October 19th, Quincy came from behind in the closing minutes of the game to tie the apparently stronger Orange and Black. Captain Fred Schipper and "Art" Boughan starred for Newton, while Halloran of Granite City was the individual star of the game. Playing at Dilboy Field, the weighty Somerville aggregation won a 14-0 verdict on the following Saturday. Edgar Moore and Gordon Linberg did yeoman work in stopping the hard hitting Somerville backs.

The next game found Newton overwhelmed by Medford, the decision being 22-0. Spellman of the opponents scored three touch-downs. Through several disastrous fumbles Newton succumbed to the smooth working Rindge outfit by a 14-7 count. "Honk" Furden and Phil Layton were the spark-plugs of several promising drives. On November 19th, came the Waltham game. The Watch City machine ran roughshod over the visitors 26-6. "Feet" McCarthy's memorable single handed score prevented a shutout. The objective game with Brookline resulted in a rather disappointing 0-0 tie.

Three of the team's luminaries Elrod, Boughan, and Captain Schipper were voted berths on the Honorary All-Suburban Eleven. Looking forward to 1930, we can not help but be optimistic with Harold Strombom as captain and several letter men returning.

Ice Hockey

THE Varsity Hockey team, like a certain spring month, came in like a lion and went out like a lamb. After a period of warm weather, the Greater Boston League went into action at the Boston Arena, and Newton looked like the best team present, defeating Belmont, 3-0. Walter Billings tallied all three goals of the opening game, and his rink-long rushes were a feature of the team-play at every clash.

At the Boston Garden in a night contest, Arlington won from Newton, 2-0. Fred Schipper played a great game, but lack of co-ordination undid his best efforts. Andover Academy was the next victor by a last minute score on a shot from mid-ice. Then the team rallied to defeat Woburn, 2-1, Stoneham, 1-0, and Cambridge Latin, 2-0, in three consecutive games. Dick Kelley did all the scoring in the latter two games. The team took possession of second place in the League by shutting out Rindge Tech, 1-0, and then defeated Boston High School of Commerce by a 4-2 count. The next game went to St. Mark's at Southboro, 3-0.

In the first game of the Round-Robin series, Melrose High had little trouble in shutting out the Garden City sextet, 5-0. The boys showed no ill effects on Saturday, for they turned back the strong St. John's Prep aggregation, 4-2. The team reached its best form during this game. New Prep School was defeated at Bullough's Pond, largely due to the efforts of Captain Schipper. In the second series contests, Newton won from Arlington in a sizzling set-to, while Melrose downed Stoneham, 4-0.

Harvard Freshmen won a fast game by a 3-0 count, in the Boston Garden two days prior to the series finals. The last outdoor game was won by English High, 1-0 at Bullough's Pond. In the finals of the series, the team dropped a disappointing 2-0 game to Stoneham High's alert representatives.

In an important meeting of the League at the close of the season, it was decided to shorten schedules and to revise the method of playing off the schedule. Henceforth, the teams will each play seven games outdoors and seven in the Boston Garden.

Basketball

IT is difficult to account for the varied record of this year's basketball team. Certainly the team that overwhelmingly crushed a strong Milton Academy aggregation, was not the one that went through most of the season drinking the dregs of defeat. In the first two games the team did not work in unison, and consequently were downed to the tunes of 36-10, and 37-7, by Natick and Watertown. In the third encounter the team rose to its highest peak, and subdued Milton by a score of 27-10. Following this, Revere and Wakefield were victorious by scores of 19-10, and 22-9. Lady-luck frowned when a lucky shot in an overtime period enabled Somerville to nose out our warriors, this time, by a 25-23 count. Then the ineligibilities and injuries began to play their part, and Rindge, Cambridge, and Everett succeeded in winning two games apiece. In the return contest with Somerville, the Orange and Black made a great bid for victory, but again went down fighting. Mass. Nautical was then returned victorious, and in the finale, the Newtonians were bested by the Cantabs, by a score of 36-26. Considering the unusually strong opposition and the obstacles which handicapped the team, Coaches Green and Simmons did very well, and deserve a world of praise for their efforts. Captain McCarthy and Seaver were deadlocked for high-scoring honors each accounting for 52 points. The Varsity men were Captain McCarthy, Seaver, Scholl, Blair, Bosworth, Elrod, Doucette, Bailey, and Chipman.

The second team, which will be next year's Varsity, was very successful, in that it won seven games, and lost three by one and two point margins. The members were: Gilian, Patterson, L. McCarthy, Leone, Vassalotti, Dyer, Jones, and Gorgone.

Indoor Track

NEWTON'S Indoor track team upheld the standards of previous years, winning every dual meet, and standing among the high point scorers in the interscholastics. The season was opened against Watertown, who was completely outclassed. The following week Newton defeated the strong Medford track team, 43-33 at the Boston Y. M. C. A. It was in this meet that Holmes, one of the best sprinters to be developed at Newton in recent years, was discovered.

Country Day of Newton was the next opponent, and the Orange and Black won easily 52-16½.

Brookline, our old playmates next invaded our ancient barn, in the first half of the annual home and home meet. Newton took eight first places, swept three events and piled up a total of 57½ while the Red and Blue garnered 19½.

Medford won the Northeastern Interscholastics, held annually at the Boston Y. M. C. A. Although the Orange and Black sunk Medford in a dual meet earlier in the season, the best Newton could do was to take third place, with Malden placing second.

Brookline made a very credible showing in the second half of the home and home meet, but Newton's lead was too great to be surmounted.

The B. A. A. Interscholastics were next on the schedule which games should be called the Prep Games, five of the six highest point scorers being of the latter class. The feature of this meet from a Newton standpoint was the relay race between Brookline and Newton, in which Charlie Hall, running anchor, made up twelve yards against Brigham to win by a yard.

The final meet was the State Meet, in which Newton placed fifth. Boston English, one of the dark horses, ran away with the meet.

THE baseball season for 1930 opened at Newton High with little promise of a third consecutive year atop the Suburban League. Captain Perry Elrod, outfielder, was the only veteran, and seasoned pitchers were the greatest need of the squad; Coach John L. Sullivan has built up a fairly steady nine which shows promise.

The season was opened with a few informal games with the alumni and Wellesley High, however, no remarkable showing was made by the varsity. The opener for the regular schedule played against West Warwick High from Rhode Island, was a real victory for Newton, the Orange and Black running up an 11-5 score. Bob Dalton fanned eleven of the visitors before he was relieved in the 8th inning.

Woburn High, Mystie League champs since 1927 were defeated 5-2 by a big 8th inning rally for Newton, when the Garden City outfit put across three runs. George Bennett featured with a three-base hit. Everett defeated us 5-0. The Cambridge Latin game brought another defeat to Newton, 5-1. Brockton High came with a fast club and won easily 11-1. Less easy to swallow was a 4-2 loss to Brookline. Boston College High were the next visitors, and until Perry Elrod reached first on a bunt in the 8th inning, it was a no-hit game against Newton. The final count was Boston College High School, 18; Newton, 4. However, all's well that ends well, and three days later the boys turned and walloped Somerville for a 10-2 League victory. Another non-League game went to Malden, 7-1.

Cross-Country

Manager, JACK MORRIS Captain, BILL YOUNG Coach, DONALD G. ENOCH

CROSS-COUNTRY Running made a strong bid for attention in its Newton High debut last fall. After a short period of training, the boys went to Arlington and lost by a 35-38 margin. Charlie Hall took first place for Newton, followed by Vincent Signore and his brother Agostino in 3rd and 6th places respectively. Bill Young took 7th with a spirited dash to the finish, while Cliff Benoit, running entirely without training or experience, was unable to finish. Inasmuch as Cross-Country is one of Arlington's foremost sports, the boys were credited with a great piece of work.

In the Harvard Interscholastic Cross-Country Run on November 2nd, the team pulled 6th place in a field of nineteen schools. Vincent Signore was Newton's low scorer, arriving in 15th place. Charlie Hall had trouble on the second lap, but rallied to take 24th. Agostino Signore plodded home 30th, and Bill Young was 38th. Newton's other finishers were: Jack Crossette, Gordon Sidebotham, and Cliff Benoit. The team ended its big day by watching the Harvard-Florida football game from the stadium roof, at the expense of the Harvard A. A.

Vincent Signore carried on in a post-season triumph at the National A. A. U. Cross-Country Championship Run at New York City. Vin was 18th man at the finish, and his score was indispensable in his club's winning the team trophy.

Varsity letters were awarded to the following Cross-Country men: Charlie Hall, Vincent Signore, Agostino Signore, William Young, and Jack Crossette.

Golf Team

Captain, ROBERT HUNTER

Coach, FREDERICK HUSSEY

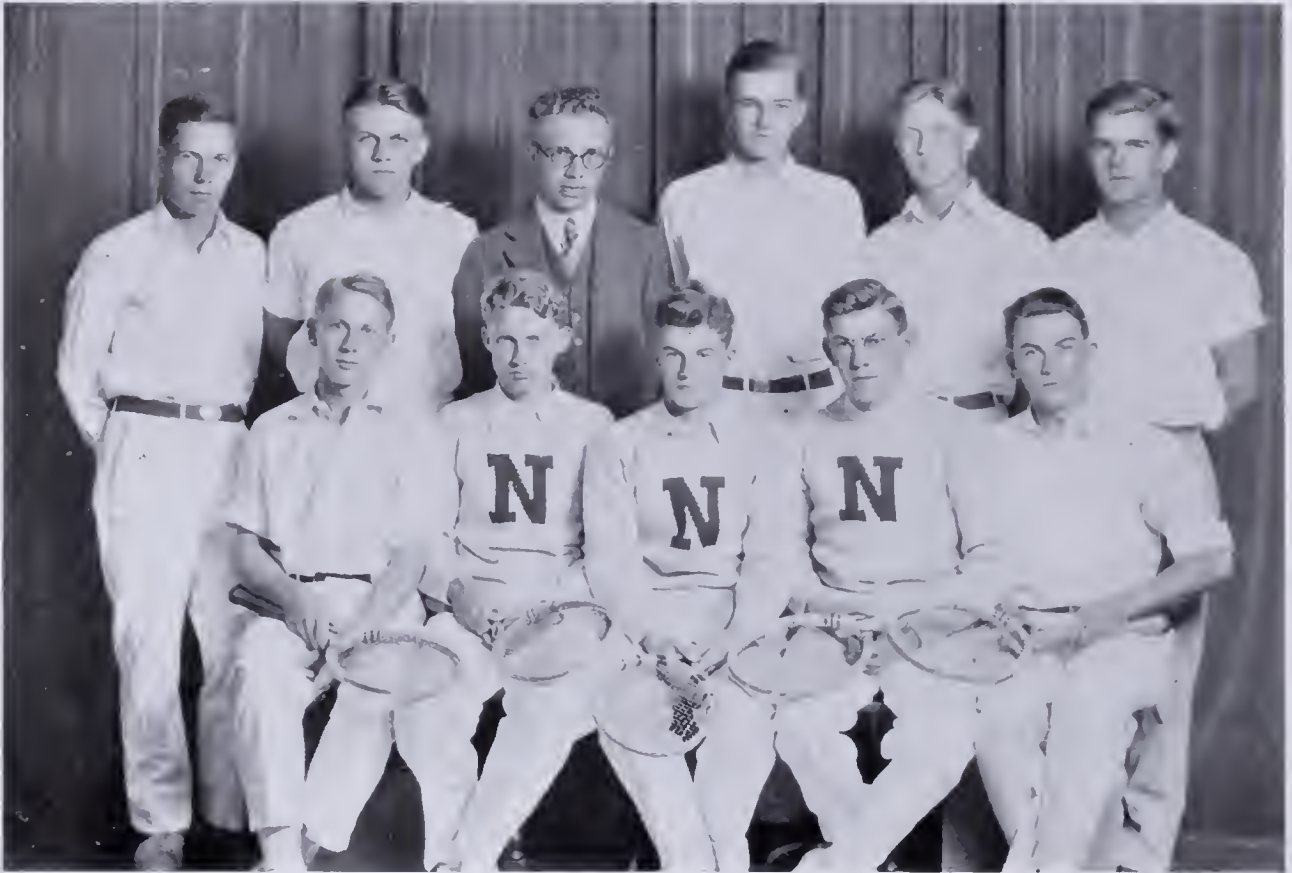

NEWTON'S Golf Team has been on a par with the teams of the past few years, winning six matches and losing three. The season was inaugurated with Arlington defeating the Orange and Black, 6-3. The next match was held on April 24 with New Prep at the Commonwealth course, and Newton emerged victorious by a score of 6-3. April 28 saw Newton playing Wellesley at Wellesley, despite the fact that they were playing on a new course, every Newton player won his match, and the score was 9-0.

On May 1, Arlington invaded the Commonwealth Country Club, but could not again overcome the Orange and Black, the latter winning 5-4. The next match was with New Prep, whom Newton set down to the tune of $5\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$.

May 5 saw Newton defeat Brockton 8-1 at the Albemarle Club course. On the twelfth Wellesley again faced Newton, this time at Charles River, but the Orange and Black again won this time by an 8-1 score.

Brockton was next visited and were turned back 8-1. The last match was played with Quiney, who sunk Newton, 5-4.

Captain Hunter, Yerardi, Herrington, Feldberg, Hannigan, Hilton, and Russell compose the team. The team's record this year has been very good despite the loss of William Donnelly, Junior State champion, due to ineligibility.

Tennis

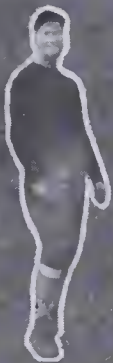

Manager, MORTON KIMBALL

Captain, FRANCIS CHASE

Coach, WENDELL SMITH

THE season thus far in tennis has been especially successful. All the League games on the schedule have resulted in victories for the net men. But two reverses were sustained, these being to Andover, by a score of 8-1 and Milton Academy by an 11-2 count. The Newton victories were as follows: Malden, 5-4; Country Day, 7-2; Everett, 3-2; Cambridge Latin, 3-0; and Brookline, 7-2. The players, responsible for such an impressive record are: Captain Chase, Dunnell, Hall, Jarrell, Giddings, Haug, Billings, Lawrence, Sharp, and Brennan. In the match at Milton Academy, Bancroft, Jump, and Ashley were used.

Coach Wendell F. Smith deserves a world of credit for the manner in which he has brought his team to the peak. Prospects for next year seem to be good, for there will be a number of veterans available.

Girls' Basketball

THE girls came out in greater numbers than ever before for basketball this year, two hundred and fifty strong. The classes were organized into several teams which played within their own classes to decide who were superior and to whom numerals should be given. Class teams were chosen with Margaret Fletcher, captain of the sophomores, Catherine Martin of the juniors, and Natalie Welch of the seniors.

The first game at Wellesley with but a day of practice preceding it, was a disastrous one for the junior and senior teams, but the sophomores came through with a well-deserved victory, 25-8. Newton next entertained Needham. The juniors had recovered from the shock they had received at the hands of Wellesley and won the game, 21-11. The sophomores repeated their brilliant performance with a 22-3 victory but the seniors again suffered defeat. Watertown thwarted all efforts on Newton's part to win, although it was with difficulty they defeated the proficient sophomores. For the final interscholastic meeting the three teams traveled to Waltham, where Newton played the best basketball of the season. The seniors lost a close game, however, the sophomores again showed their superiority, easily taking their struggle by a 30-6 score. The juniors lost by one point, 22-21.

The prospects are very bright for next year, when the training, which Miss Peterson has given this year, will effect its greatest influence.

Girls' Field Hockey

IN spite of the fact that there was only one veteran player on the girls' field hockey team they had a fairly successful season.

There were six games on the schedule but unfortunately the anticipated encounter with our ancient rivals, Brookline High School, was called off because of snow. We won two of the remaining games, lost two, and tied Needham in the opening game, 4-1, while the second team won 2-0. Three weeks later in a return game with Needham, both teams emerged victorious from the duel games as the first team won 3-1, and the second team lost 1-0.

Newton surprised everyone by unleashing an inspired attack to hold Watertown Champions 1-2 and then defeated Waltham 2-1 in a closely fought contest at Waltham.

The alumnae game was one of the best matches in the season, both teams battled back and forth in freezing weather until the alumnae finally came from behind in the last period to clench the laurels 5-1.

The All Boston Field Hockey Association again held the annual try-outs for the selection of an honorary all public and all private school teams, in Newton. There were 130 girls representing 35 schools on the field. Since only eleven girls are selected from the entire group it was a great honor for Newton to have both Rena Spain and Natalie Welch in the public school contingent.

Approximately 211 girls came out for class hockey in the afternoons.

Every candidate was given a chance to play on some team, each class having two or three teams. This intra-mural schedule was played off with as much excitement and rivalry as the outside games, the Juniors winning in the Junior-Senior division and the Sophomores capturing the Freshman-Sophomore series.

Girls' Tennis

Captain, HELEN MORGAN

Coach, MAIDA FLANDERS

THE girls' tennis team chances for a good season are excellent for the following veterans have already reported: Capt. Helen Morgan, Ruth Chase, Helen Chase, Esther Turner, Marjorie Morse, and Grace Thompson. With this wealth of experienced material and other proficient under classmen who are showing up well in the spring tournament, a championship team ought to be the outcome.

The team will be composed of seven regulars and a substitute, of which there will be three singles players and two doubles teams.

A schedule of four matches has been arranged which is as follows: May 21, Arlington at Arlington; May 27, Watertown at Newton; June 2, Winchester at Winchester; June 10, Brookline at Newton.

The system instituted last year in running off the spring and fall tournaments which are open to all girls in this school, was adopted as a regular event this year. There were no postponed matches except in case of unfavorable weather and the players were on the courts at the appointed time when they either played or defaulted. Those who came on Monday played each other until the final round, as did the Wednesday group. The winners of each group played the other for the championship. Grace Thompson and Helen Chase were the finalists in the fall tournament as of last year. These two and the runners up are candidates for the team.

AN ENGLISH CLASS

HELLO!

Class Prophecy

CHARLIE CUNNIFF the famous scientist, running his delicately manicured hands over his brow turned to the phone and called up his famous contemporary ALTHEA LUCELLA MAY HIS-COE and requested her presence in 15 minutes. Galvanized into action she bounced down the stairs tripping over the gangly legs of Janitor Red Connelly only to fall into the out-stretched arms of the ever alert doorman, Charlie Leach. "Taxi, taxi!" bellowed Althea. "Right here lady," gurgled Marshall Hall, proprietor of the Open Air Taxi Cab Co., Incorporated. "Bemis Naval Yard" wheezed Althea. The taxi whirled off toppling Charlie Barry off his soap box, where he had been attempting to sell "Giddings Pills for Giddy People."

Speeding down Washington Street the taxi came to a grinding stop at the shrill whistle of SERGEANT MASON STONE, A. T. S., A. L. S. Handing Marshall a ticket the muttered absent-mindedly, "Name and home room number. Oh fudge — Appear before JUDGE BRIGGS in Newton District Court Monday at 9.30."

"Sorry, lady, but we'll have to stop at Bubbsy Shoff's Cut Price Petroleum Emporium." Refueled, the taxi chugged off, speeding around a corner they came upon EMMIE BROWN resting from the arduous labors of manicuring the asphalt.

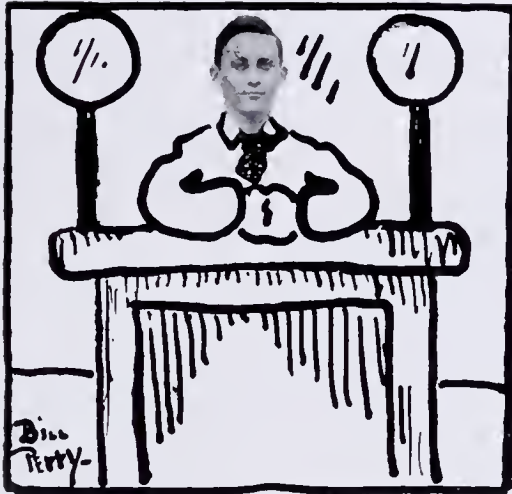

Crash!! With a twist of the wheel to avoid his old classmate, Marshall piloted the machine up the front steps and into the parlor of the nearest house.

Althea floated out the rear of the car, coming to rest in Bill Bell's fruit wagon. "Caramba!" screamed William, rushing into Dot Bliss's Home for Blind Mice while Marshall was engaged in extricating himself from the wreckage of the once beautiful taxi cab.

Willie grabbed the phone and squeaked for the police. Across the wires floated operator Betty Muther's boisterous tones — "Thank you," she lisped, promptly connecting him with the Animal Rescue League. Eventually the ambulance arrived guided by the one handed dexterity which characterized Jimmy Benson's high school driving.

The prostrate form of the unfortunate Althea was hoisted into the ambulance with the assistance of Isabelle White, Esther Turner, and Betty Stidger trained nurses.

Soon she was at rest between clean white sheets. The practiced hands of DONALD BISCHOFF, the surgeon soon eased the patient's throbbing nerves. Recalling her destination, Althea cried for a messenger boy. CHARLIE HALL, the De Mar of Newton, sped forth with the missive to explain to the scientist his friend's absence. The iron legs of Charlie had weakened since high school days and so, on reaching the street, with one foot in the gutter, Charlie cocked his thumb in the general direction of Bemis.

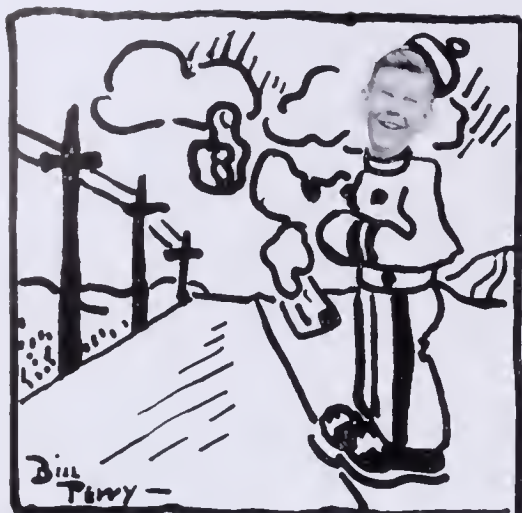

Lo and behold, a white haired patriarch, driving by in a Chipman Six, slowed down and called out, "Want a lift, Sonny?" Charles nearly swooned on the spot for the words came from the mouth of the High School's famous parliamentarian. Arriving at Bemis, Charlie sped up the walk to the scientist's home. The door was opened by his faithful man-servant, "Friday" Burton. Ushered before the scientist, Charles informed him of the unfortunate accident, Zowie! The door flew open and "Friday" screamed "Fire! it's the hospital."

"Let it burn!" said Charlie. "We need a new hospital anyway."

Laying his hand benevolently on the shoulder of the astounded messenger, the Duke of Bemis said "My boy, I shall allow you to be the first to witness this epoch-making event."

Going into the laboratory, Charles saw a mysterious appearing glass globe resting on a velvet cushion. It appeared strangely like a magician's crystal. "In this bowl," said the Duke, "is a marvelous-thought-sensitive fluid which I have just perfected. To gaze into it and think of some person you know immediately brings a picture of him in whatever situation he is in."

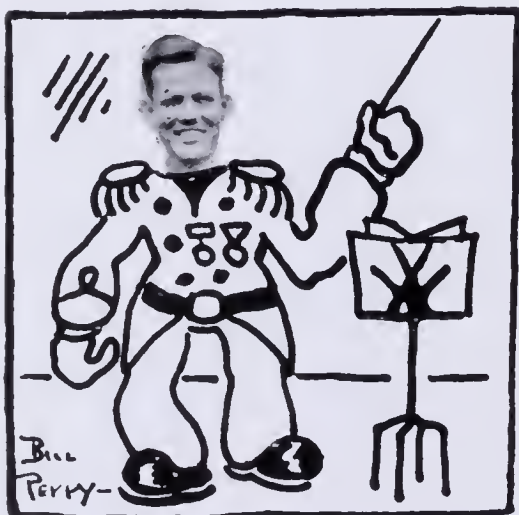

The mystified messenger looked into the pearly liquid and there before him was dynamic Ed Moore broadcasting from the Metropolitan Health Tower deep breathing. "1-2-3-4, 1-2-3-4. Close your mouth and say 'Ah.'" Marion Mason was assisting by pounding out the "Sidewalks of New York." In the living room of a farmhouse in East Oshkosh was Eleanor Bingham, diligently following the directions given in the romantic tones of our redoubtable director.

Through the valley of the Yukon rode Nelson "Get-your-man" Bell on the trail of "Hit-and-Run" Tom Cannon.

"Wuxtry! Wuxtry!" howled Harry "Byan-Advertiser" Colony. "I'll have two, C. O. D.," answered Sue Elwell, wise cracking street vendor of fresh violets.

The Bungling Bros. Cirens. "Peanuts! Peanuts!" bellowed peanut vender extraordinaire, Fred Wing. Around the tan bark whirled Maude Chase balancing upon one ear on the trusty back of old Dobbin, while "Simon Legree" ED MARSHALL snapped his whip and with a blare of trumpets the band led by FRED "SOUSA" SCHIPPER burst into martial music which heralded the entrance of Dick "Speedboat" Wales at the head of his rollicking band of fun makers with Ken Cady, Dick Robbins, Rena Spain featured.

"Ladees and gentleman, cast your eyes upon the well known high diver with a bathing suit which is guaranteed not to rip, tear, run, wrinkle, bend, or burst, puncture-proof or otherwise be injured in the wash-Fishy Hayes," cried announcer, Tom Mackin.

"Enough! enough!" cried the astounded Charlie, "I'll have every newspaper in the country aware of your feat in an hour. This mighty machine will be known from pole to pole."

"Oh-h-h! What's this? Where am I?"

Alas! our scientist awoke. A noise had penetrated his sleeping but fertile mind.

"Cunniff, report at 2.15."

A Newton Credo

Nine out of ten high school students believe that:
 The five-year course is designed for those who can't get through in four years;
 Newton's faculty is equal to that of most colleges;
 A pupil and a scholar is the same thing;
 Jam sandwiches are always labeled "Peanut butter;"
 They could do better than the dub player if they had gone out for the team;
 Chbs are hard to get into;
 Colleges welcome Newton High School graduates with open arms;
 It is a blue card offense to take a drink of water in the middle of lunch periods;
 Teacher lunch monitors eat nothing but peanuts;
 They must be on the honor roll at least three years to be in the National Honor Society;
 The Newtonite puts original jokes in the Junk Heap;
 Members of the football squad get as good marks in January as in October;
 The owners of collegiate Fords wouldn't exchange them for Rolls Royces;
 Seniors are sorry to leave dear old Newton High School;
 This credo was copied direct from "Life" or "College Humor."

Vital Statistics

One enterprising young student has figured that upon finishing a five-year course at Newton High School and partaking of a four sandwich lunch each day the following is the conclusion:
4" sandwiches
12,000' of dough
2½ miles of food spread of five years and equaling the distance from his home to school.
What of it?

The Absent-Minded Professor

Scene: — An East Boston Ferryboat.

Time: — Who cares?

Characters: — Madame Schumann-Heink, Sear-face Al Capone, and a large Jersey cow, age seven months.

As the curtain rises a telephone is heard ringing. Miss Smith, the efficient secretary, proceeds to answer it.

"Someone for you, Professor."

"Right," says Professor Jones, putting the wastebasket to his ear. "Hello! There seems to be some mistake. Miss Williams, there is no one on the other end of the wire."

"You might try using the phone," gurgles Miss Smith.

"Hello, hello, this is the Public Library! How's that? Oh yes, the high school. You're right. Why how do you do, Professor Wilkins? I haven't seen you for years. You say I left my coat at your house after the party last night? You can't fool me, you little rascal, my coat's right here! Oh, your coat? To be sure, I'm wrong again. I'll meet you at the Y. W. C. A. in twenty minutes. Sorry I made the mistake, Lieutenant. Goodbye."

Professor Jones throws the telephone out the window and puts the cat in the filing cabinet.

"Miss Brown, will you please make a note that I am to meet Senator White at the Aquarium in approximately an hour and a half?"

"Yes, sir," answers Miss Smith. "But Professor, you have an astronomy class in ten minutes."

"Surely! Thank you for reminding me, Miss Warren," replies the Professor taking off his vest and starting for the Art Museum.

The following spring Professor Jones meets Professor Wilkins at the gymnasium and returns the pair of overshoes.

A Questionnaire

By Who Cares

Name: Never mind.

Born: Of course.

Citizen or alien? Yes.

Are you married? No!

Children? Aren't we all!

Have you done any philanthropic work? Yes, five blind dates.

Do you do any work during summer vacations? Well, that is —

What line? Same old one about loving her more than anyone else in the world

What is your favorite course? Chicken à la King.

Do you intend to continue studying next year? Heh, heh, heh!

Mr. Mergendahl (illustrating a problem): "And so if John gets half as close to Mary each move, theoretically he will never reach her."

Voice (from the Rear): "Near enough for all practical purposes."

Mr.: "How would you like to have a one-eyed husband?"

Mrs.: "Certainly not."

Mr.: "Then let me carry that umbrella."

Kind old lady: "My, my, what a fine big boy, and have you been out in the woods looking for fairies?"

"Ed" Moore: "Gnome" (somewhere the sun is shining; somewhere laughing children are at play).

Fred Schipper: "Surely you remember me! Isn't my face familiar?"

Ann Dudley: "I think it's trying to be."

Teacher: "I'll not go on with the lesson until this room settles down."

Ray Blair: "Better go home and sleep it off, sir."

Vagabond Scholl: "I learned to dance when I was nine years old."

Ada: "Funny what you can forget in a short time isn't it."

Thurman Philoon: "Will you hold these books for me?"

Mr. Elicker: "Boy, I'm the assistant principal of this school!"

Thurman: "Oh, that's all right. You look like an honest fellow."
